

WIRELESS FOR SAN ANTONIO

Completion of New Station Will Give Connections With Capital

San Antonio, Tex., Oct. 24.—When the new ten-kilowatt wireless telegraph station is completed at Fort Sam Houston, San Antonio will become a link in a mighty chain of wireless stations established by the war department across the territory of the United States. With the system throughout the entire country complete, headquarters at Washington will be in close connection with almost all federal garrisons and messengers may be sent and answers received at Washington in a short time. The cost of the Fort Sam Houston wireless plant and equipment is estimated at about $20,000.

The new brick building, to house the machinery and instruments, located just north of the infantry post, has recently been completed, and following the erection of the two steel masts, one on each side of the building, various apparatus will be installed. The entire equipment for the station has been received by Captain Edgar A. Myers, chief signal officer of the base. It will be put in position simultaneously with the erection of the masts.

The generator, included in the regular equipment of the station, is connected directly with an inductor with a normal speed of 500 cycles. This furnishes a wide range for the regulation of the frequency of wireless waves. The transmitter is complete, and contains the latest devices for efficient work.

May Reach Washington. The "E. W. G." wavemeter will have a sending and receiving range of from 100 to 6000 meters and will be equipped with three resonance detectors. These will consist of a hot wire ammeter, giving a full scale of deflection for one-tenth of a full watt; a Helium tube, detector, and telephone. The instrument is also provided with a buzzer and battery, which includes a calibrated condenser. In addition there will be a slate switchboard with an iron frame and accessories, as well as a complete receiver with two variable condensers. The steel towers, each 200 feet high, will be erected 300 feet apart. The antennae will be strung six on the upper harp, with a counterpoise harp of six wires between towers. Six lead wires will also be run from the upper harp.

After the completion of the station it may be possible to obtain direct communication with Washington under favorable conditions, according to Captain Myers. However, messages may be easily relayed by way of Fort Riley, Kansas, where another station is located.

The construction of a concrete base for the towers, the erection of the towers and the installation of the equipment will consume some three or four weeks. The first tryout of the equipment will be under the direction of Lieut. Asa L. Singleton, now in charge of the wireless station, in operation at the maneuver camp.

HARVARD OWNS STRONGEST MAN

Test by Sargent the System Shows Him Superior to Jack Johnson

Boston, Mass., Oct. 24.—Harvard has unearthed a new strong man in Frederic Dane Huntington of Leicester, Mass. Huntington, has, in addition to being the strongest man in college in this year's registration, the distinction of being one of the lightest men that the Harvard team has ever been trying out for the position of center on the varsity team.

Huntington's qualifications for the title of strong man have been proved by the Sargent system of strength tests, and his total of 1,302.2 is 94 points ahead of that made by F. M. Leslie, who was Harvard's champion strong man last year. The total points are reckoned on the strength of legs, back, forearms, upper chest and arms, strength of lungs, and weight.

Other powerful men on the eleven, such as Captain Fisher, who was an All-American guard last year, did not come within 400 points of the record made by Huntington.

Jack Johnson, the pugilist, when he appeared at Dr. Sargent's and tried out the same tests, did not come within 200 points of the Crimson athlete's total. With his legs Huntington lifted the great weight of 1,242 pounds, and with his back he lifted 594 pounds. Several moments after going through this great exertion of lifting over half a ton he pulled himself up or "chinned" himself, sixteen times, and then, after a minute's rest, he pushed himself up, or "dipped," twenty-five times. Huntington is the captain of the hockey team and has played football for the past three years.

Huntington's complete test card reads as follows: Capacity of lungs, 290; strength of lungs, 34; push up, 25; pull up, 16; strength of back, 594 pounds; strength of legs, 1,242 pounds; strength of right forearm, 65; strength of left forearm, 65; strength of chest and upper arms, 304.2.

The capacity of the lungs is not included in the total reckoning. When these figures are added up they give a total of 1,302.2 points. F. M. Leslie is second on the strength list, with 1,209.2 points; W. J. Gardner third, with 1,132 points, and H. B. Gardner fourth, with 1,040 points.

A Little Talk On Electric Light Bills.

TO THE CONSUMER:

'Tis seldom a seller of any commodity will advise his customers how to reduce their payments to him.

It is a desire of the Electric Light Co., however, to encourage a better understanding and friendship between the consumer and the company.

Occasionally a meter may register fast or slow. If you have reasons to believe your meter is not accurate, we desire that you frankly tell us and we will make a test with pleasure and without charge to you. If you fear the meter readings are not correct, if you will call at our office we will gladly explain to you the dials of the meter and you may read your own meter and see for yourself your register of electricity consumed.

As to how to reduce your bill, the elimination of what may be expressed in one word is the solution, that word is Waste.

When two lights are used when there should be but one the additional cost per hour is but a trifle but if the same is generally practiced the bill at the end of the month is double

Electric lights are the brightest, the cleanest, safest illumination known, and per light unit, are the cheapest.

Enjoy a luxury of Electric lights, but eliminate or reduce your waste and your light bills you will find reduced accordingly.

Yours for a better understanding

GOLF SHARKS PLAN FOR NEXT SEASON

New York, Oct. 24.—It begins to look now as if the international golf game might work both ways next year. On the eve of his departure Harold H. Hilton declared his intention of returning to America a year hence to defend the title he won at Anawamsis; and now comes the news that the United States will be represented abroad.

Oswald Kirkby, the Englewood champion said today that he was going over in the spring. His father, always enthusiastic about the younger Kirkby's game, has offered to take Oswald across. It also is stated that Fred Herreshoff will try his luck next year. The Westbrook star had expected to visit Scotland last May, but a change in business interfered with his plans. With the exception of the memorable visit of Walter J. Travis in 1904, when he cast dismay into the ranks of the Britons by "lifting" the cup at Sandwick, the efforts of American golfers abroad have been decided failures.

Great things were expected of Jerome Travers, when he went over a few years ago, but his sorry showing is still remembered by all close followers of the game. Then there was the attempt of last season, when "Chick" Evans, P. W. Whittemore and J. G. Anderson went across, the result of which is still fresh in the memory of all. According to a statement on Kirkby's part his appearance in the recent Nassau tournament marks his last competitive golf of the season.

FOOTBALL NOTES.

Keene Fitzpatrick, the Princeton trainer, says that Captain Hart will be in shape for the Harvard game.

What has become of the famous Minnesota shift that ex-Captain Tom Shevlin was showing the Yale squad Dave Fultz, the former Brown football and baseball player, has been selected to referee the Army game with Yale.

Callender, who has been taken up to the varsity squad from the Harvard second team, is stockily built and looks to have clung as a quarterback.

A young brother of Jack and Percy Wendell, the Harvard players, is a member of a Boston school eleven and promises to uphold the reputation of the family on the gridiron.
